THE SONG OF THE WIND.

I've a great deal to do, a great deal to do, Don't speak to me, children, I pray; These little boys' hats must be blown off their heads, And the little girls' bonnets away.

There's a great deal of dust to be blown in the air

To trouble the traveler's eyes;
Those fruit-stalls and stands to be thrown to the ground, And this tart-woman's puddings and pies

There are bushels of apples to gather to-day, And oh! there's no end to the nuts; Over many long roads I must traverse away, And many by-ways and short-cuts. There are thousands of leaves lying lazily here, That needs must be whirled round and round;

A rickety house wants to see me, I know,
In the most distant part of the town.

That rich nabob's cloak must have a good shake, Though he does hold his head pretty high; And I must not slight Betty, who washes so

And has just hung her clothes out to dry. Then there are signs to be creaked and doors Loose window blinds, too, to be shaken; When you know all the business I must do fo-day, You'll see how much trouble I've taken, I saw some ships leaving the harbor to-day, So I'll e'en go and help them along, And flap the white sails and how! through the snrouds, And join in the sailor-boy's song. Then I'll mount to the clouds, and away will gorgeous wings through the bright I bow to no mandate, save only to Him

Who reigneth in glory on high Pacific Coast Items.

Jumping the Gap.

Taylor's Fast Life on the Modern Highway. Tom Potts, a well-known locomotive engineer in England and the States, is the self-accredited hero of the following wonderful story of successful daring. I will narrate it as nearly as I can in his own words. I have heard him tell it often:

"Well, gentlemen, I'll say you'll think it's a lie, but I can't help that; you have asked me to tell it, and all I can say is if you'd been in my place you'd have seen it. "I had been driving the Witch for

"She made her steam quick, was easy on fuel, started off lively, and went like a deer. Her cylinders were sixteen-inch, her stroke twenty-two and her drivers seven feet six, and she was as kind to handle as a baby. "To see her run with a heavy load, light and gay, was enough to shame the Juno, Venus and Helen and other

"She never wanted fixing up. Venus was always going in and out of the shop to be titivated, and if there's anything I don't like, it's an engine that all the time wants to be titivated, She was always ready and willing for work. Why, bless you! she was only washed out for the sake of cleanliness eighteen-inch machines.

-she didn't need it a bit. "She was the tidiest thing I ever seen-seemed as if dirt wouldn't stick to her.

"Well, what I am going to tell came off years ago, before I left the old country, and it was one of the best railroads-single track then, though its got three now, and four in some spots.

"Well, the Witch and I were put on the mail-one of the fastest trains, and they went like sixty in them

"The engineer was fined a shilling for every minute he lost. He durst not go slow for fog, unless he wanted to lose his day's pay. He had to keep going, and see things before he got in sight of 'em. "We were running north one darkish wintry day, and we were making | File Certificates under penalty of Losour best streaks. I should reckon we were going about fifty miles an hour. I was saying to myself: 'She's going her prettiest,' when we suddenly shot ahead, as if we had been shot out of a

"I knew what that meant; we had broke loose, we hadn't a car behind us. The coupling had broken between tender and first coach. "How we flew, to be sure! I whistled the guard to brake up the train. How we bounded along!

"I could make out no objects alongside-we seemed to go faster and faster; we must have gone as fast as one hundred miles an hour! "It was a straight piece of track for some miles. I did not shut off steam directly after we broke, for I didn't want the train to run into us, which might happen if they did not hear me whistle for brakes. "It was lucky I kept her going, for just as I had had about enough of such flying, a man started out about six hundred yards before us holding a rec flag. "There was nothing in the way, so I knew something must be wrong with the track. "You might as well have tried to stop a whirlwind as the Witch in that distance. Her speed was frightful. "There wasn't much time to think, and, as we could not stop, the faster we went the better, so I gave her what more steam there was. She seemed to past the red flag like a flash. I saw men standing horror-struck "'Bill,' I said, 'quick! Get on the choke and see what's ahead.' "He looked, and went deadly pale tottered and fell back in a faint.

have some 'go' in reserve, for we shot

"By this time I could see plain enough what was wrong. "There was a gap in the track where a bridge had gone down. "You can't fancy my feelings just then. Going to death—death, swift and terrible-at about two miles a minute-getting nearer, nearer!

"Well, would you believe it? that engine just cleared that gap!

"It was fifteen feet across, and about sixty feet deep. "She jumped that gap like a stag, and, what's more, she struck the rails all right on the other side, and kept right along, just as if she had not noticed the gap!

"I stirred Bill up, and, with both of us at the brake, we managed at last to step the Witch.' "She was on a tear that day, but I never dreamed she'd jump the gap that's a fact."

License Carried at Grass Valley.

GRASS VALLEY, July 6.—The Local Option election held here to-day passed off in a very orderly manner. Great crowds of people were on the streets from early in the morning till the polls closed. All the saloons were closed, the liquor dealers being on the streets working like beavers all day.
About 8 o'clock A. M. the Ladies' Temperance Union came out and paraded through the principal streets, distributing their tickets and badges; but they did not stop long at a time, and very little button-holing was done by them during the day. They provided a free lunch at Hamilton Hall. while the liquor men held theirs on Main street; the latter also had a band discoursing music. Those op posed to license were distinguished by a red badge, while the adherents of license wore a blue; several young ladies were noticed wearing blue badges. The total vote polled was 948; for license, 648; against license, 298. After the result was known the license party turned out with bands of music, cheering and setting off fireworks, notwithstanding the latter is against the town ordinance. The town is wild with excitement.

NINTH STREET, BETWEEN Grasshopper and Griffin streets, LOS ANGELES.

FRIDAY.....JULY 10, 1874. Freights and Fares. To assert that there is no dissatisfaction among the people of this valley over the present rates of freights and fares charged by the steamship lines running between this city and San Francisco, would be saying something hardly within the bounds of truth. The people are dissatisfied, and we propose to trace the cause of said dissatisfaction to its source, and determine, if we can, whether or not it is based on justifiable grounds. Until within a few months past the Pacific Mail Company held a monopoly of Granger, replying to some comments the water-carrying trade of the south- of our evening cotemporary on the motern coast counties. Without pretending to extensive knowledge as to the cost of running coasting steamers, we are inclined to the opinion that lower rates-say ten dollars for passage and three dollars per ton for freight each way-would have given a fair margin traveling public and the people of this valley. We trust that the opposition line will soon adopt these rates and thus reinstate itself in the good graces of those whose patronage it has heretofore enjoyed. We now come to a feature in the programme which is of great importance to the people of Los Angeles Valley. We refer to the extensively credited rumor that the agreement on the freight and fare tariff is but a prelude to the ultimate withdrawal of the opposition. Naturally our people hear the report with feelings of regret and alarm. It prognosticates a consummation they have abundant reason to dread. The treatment they would receive at the hands of the old line, if once a monopoly of the trade fell into their possession, has been experienced and its repetition is not desired. THURSDAY, July 9, 1874. The Council met pursuant to adjournment. Present: Councilmen Gerkens, Huber, Valdez, Mascarel, Beaudry and DeCelis. Absent: Workman, Sabichi, Chavis and Dockweiler. Mr. DeCelis was called to the chair.

The minutes of last meeting were read and approved. [Mr. Sabichi appeared in his seat.1

A report from the Marshal, by his deputy, stated the amount collected | Huber. on account of license tax, $1,710. Re-

A report from the City Surveyor was received, giving specifications for grading Alameda, Temple and Fort streets. Filed.

The City Surveyor also presented a report on the levels and calculations for cutting and filling on Temple and Alameda streets. In regard to the streets over which the street-railroad be much cheaper to grade the street according to the way the track is laid than to follow the grade as now established. Placed on file. Mr. Beaudry moved that the City Surveyor be authorized to change the established grade on the streets in question, making them conform as far as practicable to the level of the railprovision.

Mr. Aaron Smith drove the horse away from a corner where it becomes presented showing the issue during the month of June, 1874, > of a reasonable consideration. The report was received.

Mr. Gerkens moved, as an amendment, that the land be donated to the petitioners, provided that they pay all expenses for fincing and survey of the same. Carried.

A petition from J. G. Scott was received, praying for the privilege of erecting a wind-mill on Zanja No. 7, to raise water therefrom for domestic purposes. Referred to Committee on Zanjas.

A communication from Mr. E. F. Teodoli was received, accompanying July mottoes. I quote one paragraph: the five hundred copies of the City Charter, printed in Spanish, with bill for same amounting to $52; stating that he had lost $26 on the job, and had already paid the whole amount from his pocket, requesting immedito be paid at once.

A bill from the Express office, was the Grange.' dred copies of the City Charter in English. On motion the rules were suspended, and bill ordered to be paid as soon as the charters are delivered to the City Clerk. Mr. Beaudry presented the "Notices of Intention," required to be published previous to the grading and paving, as previously ordered, of Main, Alameda, Temple, Second and Olive streets; also of the construction of the sewer to be laid on Main street from Arcadia to Ozier Lane. He moved that the same be published, according to law, for ten days. Motion carried.

A bill from Mr. Carpenter, for the rent of Zanjero's office, for May and June, was presented and, on motion, the rules were suspended and bill ordered paid.

The City Attorney reported on the suit ordered to commence against the proprietors of the Feliz ranch, regarding the right of water in Los Angeles river. He said that the proper proceedings have been instituted and, that the Judge will order injunction to issue immediately on the filing of a bond with two or more citizens as security, for $30,000 against any damage that may accrue. Mr. Beaudry moved that the matter be referred to the Committee on Zanjas, with instructions to secure the necessary bond, Carried, On motion, Mr. Sabichi was added to the Committee on Zanjas, pro tem., in place of Mr. Workman, who is absent from the city.

The City Attorney stated that it would be necessary to appoint a committee for the purpose of securing evidence relative to the approaching suit

Quantities of those from Panamint are being packed to Cerro Gordo and put through the furnaces, yielding magnificently by that process. The machinery for the Jacobs mill is now at Los Angeles, and will be in camp in a few days. By the time this is ready to steam up, another of four times its capacity will be well under way. The latter belongs to the Panamint Mining Co., in which Senator J. P. Jones is largely interested. These are a success and scores more will follow, because the ores are there to supply them and there is an abundance of fuel and water and trees suitable for mining timbers. But passing the mines and mills for the present, we will refer to other matters of interest to travelers. Elsewhere will be found a statement of distances.
